

Snow Day

"Rancho San Marcos GC opened in 1998. In the early months of 1999, a once-in-50-year storm hit Santa Barbara, covering the area in a blanket of snow. Having photographed the course, I realized there was a wonderful opportunity to get a special image if I could get to the right spot and have a little sunshine. No. 15, known as 'The Bears Back,' provided the perfect backdrop of the Santa Ynez mountain range. With a little patience and some good fortune, I took advantage of two minutes of sunshine to capture this shot."
